

IT'S ALL IN THIS ISSUE

REVIEW: ASAPS FOR WINDOWS

ASAPS is a great way to find out whether the DX is in... or out. And now the clever people at IPS make it happen in Windows!

REVIEW: YAESU FT-50R

Oh, my. This little handful is going to win a lot of hearts. It's so cheap you should buy two... Chris, VK3CE reports on a dual-band transmitting scanner...

REVIEW: GME TX-1000

At last!! A new 27MHz CB to talk about! And this one is wholly designed and built in Australia. Ken Reynolds reports...

HOBART'S CONCRETE BROADCAST IDEAS...

Get a good idea — then set it in concrete. That's what the NTA has done on chilly Mount Wellington, which overlooks Hobart. A Jason Reilly story.

TALKING PHONES...

What makes your mobile tick? Maurie Bund tells you all about it and adds a bit of history...

40

REVIEW: AOR AR-5000

Scanner fanatics rejoice! Good old AOR has done it again with the all-new AR-5000 super scanner. You can listen to almost anything with one of these... Craig Seager has the guff.

REVIEW: MFJ-259

This equipment brief looks at a handy gadget. From a simple start MFJ's analyser has developed into something really useful.

59

THE RECEIVER — A CONDENSED HISTORY

MIH

BEST VALUES IN THE BUSINESS!

Chris Davis, VK1DO, looks back at some landmark receiver designs and to the future. Do they still make 'em like that?

72

AOR AR-3000 MODS

Here's Part 2 of our two-part series of mods for the AR3000/AR3000A scanners. This month, a switchable narrow AM filter and more.

74

R&C VISITS WERPLE, AN INTERNET PROVIDER

So what's inside an Internet site? Well, a whole lot of telephone modems to start with... plus miles of optic fibres, computers and more.

80

GIVEAWAY — FT-50R

Boy, here's an opportunity. You could win one of these fantastic new dual-band amateur rigs simply by answering a few questions...

84

BAUDWALKING INDEX

How many Internet sites can one person visit in six months? Get ready for a shock. Tom's surfed so much that we'll need two issues just to list all the sites!

Don't miss our next great issue — it's out November 20!