- 12 DoTC's PROPOSED REGULATIONS: What do you think? It's not often that government departments ask for our opinion on anything, so we should grasp this one with open hands! Read what our new operating conditions are likely to be... than you be the judge!
- 24 EQUIPMENT REVIEW — ICOM IC-728: The IC-725 HF transceiver has been incredibly successful for Icom. The radio was introduced to slot in below the IC-735, which is still soldiering on. But even good things must eventually make way for the new, and the IC-728 brings a few special features by way of welcome.
- 30 AMATEUR RADIO HF FREQUENCY LIST: Here's part two of Ash Nallawalla's latest data creation. Gee, he must've been typing for a long time...
- 38 1992 AOCPT THEORY COURSE — PART 6: You wanted in-depth answers to your questions, so here they are — all four pages of them!
- 42 COMPETITION — HOME-BREWERS ONLY! Here's your last chance to win a great Icom receiver/scanner/transceiver! All you have to do is describe something simple (by way of an original home-brewed project or design) to be in the running. Get those skates on!

Cover: Better start packing — the all-new Icom IC-728 has arrived. Far from the simple make-over we had expected, the IC-728 is virtually all-new from the ground up. Sporting a triple-conversion receiver (its dad, the IC-725, had a dual-conversion receiver), the new radio also boasts passband tuning, a feature which Icom had dropped in mysterious circumstances a few years ago. How much improvement do the changes make? Our review starts on page 26...
